Now that the Woman's Suffrage Bill is before Congress, that patient, persistent and persuasive pioneer advocate of woman's rights, Susan B. Anthony, thinks she sees the sure success of the bill, and in that she will reap her reward for her life-long battle for the rights of her sex. You are a good woman, Susan, and you keep right along hoping and working—it will be a comfort to you anyhow—but don't you be discouraged when the bill comes up to be voted on if the twenty six Senators who have promised you their vote are kept away by some other duty that day, or get in too late to cast their vote in favor. Don't trust them too much, Susan.

AMUSEMENTS.

HAWTHORNE.—The Grace Hawthorne Company are growing in favor with the Los Angeles public, and, for the reminder of the engagement, ought to have packed houses.

Last Lagune in matinee yesterday, attracted but a sudience fair both as to cash and numbers, and the play went off very smoothly.

Last night the attendance was somewhat increased to witness Pierce Wilson's highly sensational and grotesque play, Buriesque. The scene in which the crazed wife pours other over the wounded arm of her sweetheard husband and sets fire to that in a more than gentlemanlike ghoulish. Miss Hawthorne acted it in all its horrible reality and sent a thrill through the audience.

Chas. Bardiger has a very fine voice, which is not quite equaled by his acting. Jas. R. Garey is a capital old man.

Tonight, From Firm.

Office—Temple, Main and New High

ABOUT 65,000 boxes of raisins have been shipped from Fresno during the last year. This is mostly the crop of 1885, with some boxes probably yet to ship.

SANTA BARBARA is looking forward to a splendid and early fruit crop. That county is stepping right along in the way of development, and it has a progressive people, thoroughly awake to their own best interests. Give her a railroad and she will rush right ahead.

IT is said at Washington that Gov. Stoneman is anxious to be restored to his former place on the retired list of the army. That's a better thing than being a gubernatorial office in the great army of "Reform."

WHEN the weather gets so cold in New York that people cannot pass the mouth of the Brooklyn Bridge without freezing some portion of their anatomy it has a tendency to make people hanker after a warmer climate, and we may be sure that a good many of the sufferers will take to semi-tropical California very easily between this time and another winter.

THE Oakland Enquirer says: "Attorney General Garland, of the household of Cleveland and reform, proposes to resign. It has been traced to his door (the door of justice) that he allowed the name of the United States to be used for the purpose of promoting a sham lawsuit for enhancing the value of the Pan-Electric stock, in which he was directly interested. Electricity is most too swift for the Democracy."

THE HONORED DEAD.

Preparations for the Last Sad Rites

OVER THE REMAINS OF GEN. HANCOCK.

Saturday Set for the Funeral—The Remains to be Interred at His Old Home—Eloquent Eulogies.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The body of General Hancock remained in the room in which he died last night. Many more telegrams were received, and among them were messages from Rutherford B. Hayes, Samuel J. Tilden, O. O. Howard, and from civil and military officers in all portions of the country. The arrangements for the funeral are being rapidly perfected. The body will be taken from Governor's Island to the Battery Saturday morning by the steamer Chester A. Arthur. All officers connected with the post, and as many soldiers as can be spared, will accompany the remains. The funeral procession will proceed up Broadway to Trinity Church, where services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix and his assistants. There will be no military music whatever in the procession, and the only troops in line will be those from Governor's Island. The staff of the late General will follow the hearse. The ceremonies at the church will be of the simplest character possible. There will be no address. The body will be taken to Jersey City, where a special train will take the funeral party to Philadelphia. The train will arrive at Philadelphia at 1:45 o'clock. Here the Philadelphia division of the military order of the Loyal Legion will join the party and accompany the body to Norristown, where the train will arrive at 3 p. m. General Hancock's remains will be placed in the family vault. Numerous military and civic societies have asked permission to form part of the funeral procession.

A WAR DEPARTMENT ORDER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The following general order was issued to-day:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 1886. With profound sorrow the Secretary of War announces to the army that Major-General W. S. Hancock died to-day on Governor's Island in the city of New York. He was a soldier without fear, a citizen without reproach, a patriot without guile. He will ever be a noble and conspicuous figure in the history and in the countrymen will always recall with pride and pleasure his heroic and inspiring services, not only in the council chamber, but on the field of Gettysburg. For his meritorious and conspicuous share in that great decisive victory he has received the gratitude of the American people, and the thanks of Congress. The flags will be placed at half-mast at all military posts and stations, and thirty minute guns will be fired on the day after the receipt of this order. The usual badges of mourning will be worn for thirty days.

WM. C. ENDICOTT, Secretary of War.

By order of Lieutenant-General Sheridan.

Lieut. Gen. Sheridan will act as pall bearer at Gen. Hancock's funeral. Maj. Gen. Schofield will also attend.

THE HANCOCK MAUSOLEUM.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 10.—The remains will be interred in the General's mausoleum at Montgomery Cemetery. The ceremony can properly be termed the burial ground of the Hancock family. The General's mother Johns many years ago purchased a lot there, in which lies the remains of his seven children. Adjoining is the lot purchased by Gen. Hancock and his twin brother Hillary, and in it they placed the remains of their parents. By the side of the latter lies the body of Winfield Scott Hancock, the General's grandson and namesake, who died when an infant in the summer of 1880 the news of his death reaching Gen. Hancock on the same day he was formally notified of his nomination for the Presidency. In 1883 Gen. Hancock built a handsome mausoleum. The only member of the General's immediate family now entombed in the mausoleum is his daughter Ada, who died in 1875.

FUNERAL PREPARATIONS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The body of Gen. Hancock was to-day partially embalmed. Col. John P. Nicholson, Chief Recorder of the military order of the Loyal Legion, who arrived to-day, has taken charge of the dead General's personal affairs, in accordance with a request made by him several years ago. Gen. R. H. Jacobson will command the escort on the day of the funeral. Four foot batteries from Forts Hamilton, Wadsworth and Governor's Island will follow the body to the church. The guard over the dead to-night consists of Capt. Charles Morris, Lieut. O. E. Wood and Col. R. W. Vogdes.

Mrs. Hancock was confined to her bed all day to-day, attended by a number of female relations. She is prostrated by the shock.

THE PALL-BEARERS.

The following named persons will act as pall-bearers: Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, Secretary of State; Generals Sherman, Sheridan, W. B. Franklin, W. F. Smith, J. B. Fry, A. H. Terry, John Newton, N. Miles, F. A. Walker, B. M. Harbaugh, Col. W. P. Wilson and Maj. H. C. Miller, the two latter being aides-de-camp of the deceased during the late war. It is also expected that the President and members of the Cabinet will attend the obsequies. Mrs. Hancock to-day received a touching letter from Secretary Bayard, in which he referred to his own recent bereavement in the loss of his wife and daughter, and speaking of the decease of her husband as a loss to the nation.

HONORING THE DEAD.

Hayes and Sherman Eulogize Hancock Before the Loyal Legion.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 10.—The death of Gen. Hancock changed the annual meeting of the Ohio Commandery of the Loyal Legion from an occasion of joyful reunion to one of mourning. Ex-President Hayes delivered an address in which he said: "The Third Annual Festival of the Ohio Commandery of the Loyal Legion has suddenly and sadly changed. The meeting which had been a joyous social and fraternal reunion of old comrades of the war, has become a memorial service in honor of the beloved Commander-in-Chief of the Loyal Legion. In the presence of many who have served on the most intimate terms with General Hancock during the long years of trying duty, I shall not attempt a full sketch of his life, services and character. I have not the confidence of General Grant and of every man whoever had Hancock on his command, myself included. He was most loyal, most obedient, most completely satisfactory, never questioning an order, loyal to the backbone, generous to a fault and willing to obey any order whether he approved it or not. I will go further, and say that I knew Hancock on the plains when there was no chance for glory, no hope of house, no desire to attract notice, but nothing but hardship; and he was the same conscientious man, anxious to do right, anxious to fulfill the orders of his government, anxious to complete the job after which he had been dispatched and generally successful. Now General Hancock is dead. The big, strong, nervous man lies dead in his house on Governor's Island, and we, his companions, may well shed tears here to-night. It was a sad piece of news which came to us yesterday. Oh, my friends, when that woman sat at the gates of paradise disconsolate, and appealed to heaven to declare that she should bring to admit her into the gates, she went back and forth and finally returned with the expired spirit of soldier patient and the gates of heaven were opened to her. If the gate of heaven will be opened for that poor girl, how much more will it be with the manly soul. The gates of heaven will remain ajar until he enters it, and you or I, and each and every one of us, are better for the life which this man led."

SAN FRANCISCO.

Smallpox—The New Marshal—Solid for Silver.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—The steamer Belgic arrived at noon to-day from Hong Kong and Yokohama, with a case of smallpox on board. She was immediately boarded by the quarantine officer and kept in the stream. No communication of any kind was allowed with her from the shore, but her mails and newspapers, after fumication, were allowed to be sent ashore. The vessel has been ordered into quarantine.

Gen. Barnes has announced that the patient afflicted with the dread disease is a negro stowaway, who showed the first signs of the disease when eight days from his port. He was immediately isolated, and it is believed that no others of the 273 passengers and crew have been infected.

LATER.—Quarantine Officer McAllister has ordered the patient sent to the county hospital, and the remaining persons on board the Belgic to be transferred to the hulk Dakota in the stream. If no further signs of disease appear they will be released in fifteen days. The vessel will be thoroughly fumigated and allowed to discharge her cargo.

THE NEW MARSHAL.

Christopher Franks, who was to-day appointed United States Marshal for this State by President Cleveland, was formerly a resident and sheriff of Monterey county. He now resides in Sonoma county. He was a delegate to the San José convention in 1882, and supported J. A. Johnson for Governor. The appointment is directly traceable to the influence of Judge Field. Marshal Drew's term expires on the 20th inst.

SOLID FOR SILVER.

The Journal of Commerce will tomorrow print a series of interviews with many of the leading bankers and managers of banking institution of this city on the silver question. Spaulding, ex-Assistant Treasurer of the United States; Senator Stanford; President Alvord, of the Bank of California; Senator Fair, Jas. C. Flood, Joseph A. Donahue, J. B. Haggin, ex-Governor Low, of the Anglo California Bank. Although differing in some respects as to the best methods to be adopted for obtaining the desired end, they all, without exception, favor the double standard.

WASHINGTON.

Stanford's Maiden Speech in the Senate.

A NEW U. S. MARSHAL FOR CALIFORNIA.

Another Sharp Debate on Silver—The House Passes Memorial Resolutions on General Hancock.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In reply to Riddleberger's attack against Stanford's bill for the appropriation of $350,000 for the new postoffice at San Francisco Stanford made his maiden speech today. All the Senators laid aside their writing, papers and books, and received his remarks with marked attention. Stanford spoke clearly and with force, and in a short time had so presented the needs of San Francisco for a new office that he convinced the Senate that Riddleberger's attack was unjustified.

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS

The President has sent the following nominations to the Senate: Stephen W. Walker, to succeed Dorsheimer as United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York; Christopher Franks, to be Marshal for the District of California; Berthold Greenbaum, of California, to be United States Consul at Apia, Samoa.

A MAIL BAG'S TESTIMONY.

Superintendent Jamesoh, of the railway mail service, has received a bloodstained leather mail bag from the West, which had been split open with a knife. It bore the following information: "For Mr. Warfield, Superintendent, Western Division—The Indian question, as it applies to the Postoffice Department. About 2 p. m. on July 23d, 1885, while F. M. Peterson, mail carrier on the route from Crittenden to Lochiel, Pima county, Arizona, was on his return trip from Lochiel he was killed by Apache Indians. After murdering, as carrier and the Indians cut open the bag and destroyed the mail, tearing it into fragments and scattering it over the ground. Two pouches were carried. The one herewith was left on the scene of the tragedy and bears the sanguinary stain of the victim."

XLIX CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In the Senate Mr. Hoar offered the following resolution for which he asked immediate consideration:

Resolved, That the Committee on Library consider and report at an early day the expediency of the erection at the seat of Government of a statue or monument to the late illustrious Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock.

The resolution was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Call the Senate took up Mr. Eustis's resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the refusal of the Assistant Treasurer at New Orleans to receive shipments of silver and to issue silver certificates therefor.

Mr. Call defended the action of the Treasury officials in the matter referred to.

Mr. Coke said that the question was whether the Treasurer had technically complied with the law but had in reality violated it.

Mr. Teller said that much had been heard of late time to time of the subserviency of public men to executive influences, but there had never been seen so exalted an example in independent public men as had been exhibited by the Democratic members of the House of Representatives in the spring of 1885, but at the present time these servants of the people had seemed to be in accord with the executive, preferring to be right.

Mr. George insisted that the action of the Treasury officials in the case was in every respect sound and in compliance with law.

Mr. Eustis said that he had telegraphed to Mr. Roach at New Orleans to ascertain the purpose of the bank shipments of silver. His reply, to-day received, was as follows:

SHIPPERS sought to get rid of excessive silver by shipping to the Sub-Treasury and asking that silver certificates therefor should be issued over to New Orleans correspondent. The Sub-Treasurer declined to receive from the express company because, first, he doubted the propriety of the Treasury becoming an intermediatory between a country and a city bank; and second, for lack of clerical force. I feel assured that a provision for sufficient clerks would remedy every thing. [Signed.] J. R. ROACH.

Mr. Edmunds inquired why the administration did not turn these Republican rascals out and put in a Democrat who would understand his duty under the law.

Mr. Coke: "Did I say he is a Republican?"

Mr. Edmunds: "I don't know. I suppose if he is as bad as that he must be."

Mr. Coke said that he did not care what a man's politics was.

Mr. Edmunds repeated his inquiry as to the politics of the Assistant Treasurer at New Orleans, and whether he was an old officer or some new man.

Mr. Coke replied that the office referred to had been appointed by the present administration.

"Well," remarked Mr. Edmunds in a regretful voice, "it's a very bad state of things." (Laughter.)

The debate then closed and the matter went over.

Mr. Dolph submitted an amendment to Mr. Sherman's silver bill, which was ordered printed. In the original bill it is provided that the amount of coin certificates at any time outstanding should not exceed the cost of the bullion purchased by such certificates. Mr. Dolph's amendment is to strike out the words "cost of bullion purchased by such certificates," and make the provision read as follows:

The amount of such certificates at any time out-standing shall not exceed the market value of the bullion in the Treasury purchased under the provisions of this act, and retained as security for such certificates, and whenever at the end of any fiscal year such out-standing certificates shall be in excess in amount of the market value of such bullion, then the Secretary of the Treasury shall retire and withhold from circulation an amount of such certificates received by the United States for custom taxes and public dues equal to such excess until such time as the same can be put into circulation without increasing the amount of such certificates beyond the market value of the bullion.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—In the House Mr. Blanchard, of Louisiana, offered the following series of resolutions:

Resolved, That this House has learned with profound sorrow of the great and irreparable loss which the country sustains in the death of that great and good man, Major-General W. S. Hancock.

Resolved, That this House, in common with all his countrymen, mourn the death of him who was a stainless soldier for the Union in war, and an undaunted defender of the Constitution and civil liberty in peace, and at all times a stainless man and incorruptible.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect and affection for the exalted virtues of this hero and patriot this House do now adjourn.

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House be directed to transmit to the widow of the honored dead a copy of these resolutions, and an assurance of the heartfelt sympathy of the House in the hour of bereavement, which is alike her's and the country's.

The resolutions were adopted, and accordingly the House adjourned.

He founded the Alta newspaper here in 1849, and was later connected with several other journals of this city. He was aged about 65 years.

DEDICATION.

The Episcopal Church at Sierra Madre—A Fine Affair.

Yesterday the Church of the Ascension at Sierra Madre was dedicated. The church is Episcopalian. Rev. Archibald Trew of San Gabriel officiated, aided by five other clergymen in their white robes of office. Rev. Mr. Birdsall preached. The other clergymen were Rev. Mr. Fletcher of Pasadena, Rev. Mr. Lindsay and Rev. Mr. Brown of Pomona, and Rev. Mr. Gordon.

The music was good, being led by a choir of twelve, with an excellent organ. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. The graceful arches in front of the altar lent themselves to the decorators. The callas, branches of roses and smilax, twined around ten pillars, made a charming effect.

The church is large, but it was packed to its fullest capacity. The whole colony of Sierra Madre was there of course. From the Villa came Dr. Murray with his handsome turnout filled with guests. Amongst them were Mr. and Mrs. Sturges, Miss Reed, Miss Mandeville and Miss Cogswell. From Pasadena came Mr. and Mrs. Abbot Kinney, Dr. Converse, Mrs. Bosenbaum, Mrs. and Miss Masters and others. San Gabriel was represented by Mrs. and Miss Trew, Mrs. and Miss English, Harold Allen, Mr., Mrs. and Miss Tompkinson, Mr. Howitt, Judge Hamilton, Miss Shoemaker and many others. About fifty people came from Los Angeles. Amongst them were Mrs. and Miss O'Melveny, Miss Jones, Mrs. and Miss Austin, Mrs. Wm. West, Mrs. Dr. Maynard, Mrs. and two Misses Gilbert, and Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Hawks and Mrs. Hiore, of Wilmington.

Messrs. Ridgeway and Ripley, of Pasadena, were the architects, and A. T. Cate, of Sierra Madre, the contractor for the building. These gentlemen are to be congratulated on the substantial and tasteful edifice that they have erected. In the most attractive and commodious church building in the San Gabriel valley. All paid for except about $150.

A lunch was served after the ceremonies were concluded.

A very noticeable feature of the church is the handsome window of embossed colored glass, the gift of Abbot Kinney. Its is a large window placed behind the chancel, and consists of a flower piece, marguerites and forget-me-nots intermingled.

THE HEBREW FAIR.

Increased Attendance—Voting and Drawing.

The ladies of the Hebrew Fair give a delightful lunch in the balconies of Mott Hall every day from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Many business men patronize the feast, thereby varying their regular routine and contributing to a worthy charity. The attendance last night was considerably increased over that of the two preceding evenings, and the hall presented a scene of gaiety seldom equaled.

The musical programme of the evening was brilliant, and added greatly to the general enjoyment. Mrs. J. G. Howard, in her best voice, sang "Nos e Ver" and "Home Day," to the manifest satisfaction of all. Mrs. Dean's "When the Tide Comes In" elicited an encore. The other features were equally successful. This evening will be practically the last night of the Fair. The hall will be kept open during the day Friday and the ladies will serve an elegant oyster lunch.

A valentine party will be given Saturday evening, when the hall will be cleared for dancing. The Postoffice will be open during the whole day, and any one wishing to send valentines can drop them there with assurance of their delivery.

N. C. Woodbury, of the Business College, presented the society with three months' scholarship, valued at $75, which will be offered at private sale, and if not sold will be disposed of at auction.

The voting last night stood:

For the most popular young lady—Miss J. Cohn 60, Miss Millie Weil 88, Miss Lajra Meyer 12, Miss Nelson 3, Miss Hance 13.

For the most popular young gentleman—J. W. Montgomery 2, M. Newmark 53, H. N. Galloway 1, H. J. Fleishman 16, J. S. Stower 19.

LAWLESS LONDON.

The English Capital Still Threatened

BY SOCIALISTS AND THE UNEMPLOYED.

Two More Riotous Demonstrations—Many Houses and Stores Plundered—Relief Measures Urged.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—News was received in the city at 3 p. m. to day that a mob were marching from Deptford to the city, smashing windows and wrecking the fronts of houses along the route. A panic prevailed, and shopkeepers closed their establishments. At 3:40 the mob reached the Hop Exchange in Southwark, nearly five miles from the starting point. The mob had formidably increased. Its destination was evidently Trafalgar Square. The police were ordered to secure possession of all the bridges crossing the river Thames.

THE WORK OF PILLAGE.

The mob, on its way toward the Thames, sacked several small shops along the way. They stopped at the mammoth establishment of William Farm & Co. This establishment covers the ground from and including No. 5 to 21 on the Kent road and 165 to 173 on Novington causeway, and is devoted to trade in linen, silks, men's and women's clothes, boots and shoes, carpets, ironware, bedding, furniture, etc. The building was under police protection, but the mob overran the officers and sacked the store, and when they retired left the building badly wrecked.

THE MOB DISPERSES.

The police learned that the rioters designed an organized attack on the city emporiums and banks, but at 6 p. m. the mob dispersed without conflict with the authorities.

ANOTHER RIOTOUS DEMONSTRATION.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—By 8 o'clock a crowd that numbered many thousands gathered in Cumberland market. The lowest criminal classes of London were represented by a strong contingent intent upon harrasing and insulting the police. At 9 o'clock Hyndham, Williams and other socialist leaders appeared and were greeted with uproarious shouts of welcome. They held a short consultation and resolved to abandon the attempt to hold a meeting to-night, because, as they said, the dense fog that prevailed prevented their distinguishing the unemployed workmen from loafers. This announcement was then made and the meeting adjourned.

THE POLICE DO GOOD WORK.

As the crowd slowly dispersed cheering for the socialist leaders, the disorderly element again manifested itself. The police were jeered at and stoned, but easily drove their assailants from the ground. Three regiments of foot guards, two of cavalry and a battery of artillery were confined in the barracks all day in readiness to sally out at a moment's notice. The vigorous actions of South London coppers favorably with the inaction of the police at the Trafalgar Square meeting on Monday. Mounted Constables armed with cutlasses and revolvers, assisted by the police on footin dispersing a mob of 5000 near the Elephant Castle tavern. A gratifying feature was the fact that many small tradesmen and a number of bona fide workingmen joined in assisting the police to repulse the rioters, who dreading an encounter, quickly dispersed. The fact that the police had been informed early in the day of a conspiracy of thieves and the inhabitants of common lodging houses, to make South London the starting point of a pillaging expedition. Precautions accordingly were taken to prevent disorder.

RELIEF MEASURES URGED.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—A Cumberland a movement has been inaugurated to secure a meeting of all London members of the House of Commons, both Liberal and Conservative, to devise measures for the immediate relief of distress in London. It is proposed to have the meeting depute a strong committee to urge the Cabinet to action in the matter.

CHINESE AGITATION.

The Situation in Washington Territory and in This State.

VANCOUVER, W. T., Feb. 10.—In accordance with a dispatch from President Cleveland, Gen. Gibbon, with ten companies of troops left here this morning for Seattle.

ALL QUIET AT OLYMPIA.

OLYMPIA, W. T., Feb. 10.—The Chinese trouble seems ended, at least for the present. The three leaders in yesterday's demonstration were examined to-day before Justice Healy, and each bound over in $2,000 bonds to await the action of the District Court in March. Over one hundred citizens have volunteered as deputy sheriffs and have been organized into a regular militia company, with veterans for officers. Everything is quiet this evening.

THE AGITATION IN CALIFORNIA.

PETALUMA, Cal., Feb. 10.—Another large anti-Chinese meeting is being held here to-night. The object is to establish employment agencies, to boycott the Chinese, and peaceably rid this community of them.

LODI, Cal., Feb. 10.—An enthusiastic anti-Chinese meeting was held here to-night. Stringent boycotting resolutions were adopted.

LIVERMORE, Cal., Feb. 10.—An anti-Chinese league of 100 members was formed here to night. Strong boycott resolutions were adopted.

EASTERN SENTIMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—The Bulletin's Philadelphia special, quoting from the Times's editorial says: "Is is difficult for people in the East to fully comprehend the deep-seated hostility for the Chinese on the Pacific coast. Here the number of Celestials is comparatively limited and the occupations they follow conflict but seldom with the interest of industrial labor. There every branch of industries feel the oppressive influence of their competition. The evils of such a condition are apparent to thinking readers, and it is not surprising that settled discontentment should sometimes break into violence."

CRUSHED BY A CAR.

Fatal Accident at Short's Station Yesterday.

Michael O'Connor, a laborer in the employ of the San Gabriel Wine Company, was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon at Short's, a small station on the S. P. R. R. almost opposite the winery, which is so well known to travelers on the San Gabriel road. He had gone down to the side track with some mules to drag along a loaded car, and while driving his team his foot caught between two rails. He was instantly pushed down by the car and the right front wheel passed over the middle of his body, crushing it fearfully. George White, the foreman, who was on top of the car, put on the brake and stopped the mules by calling to them, after which he climbed down and pulled the dying man out from under the car. The poor man was so terribly crushed and lacerated that he died in ten minutes without having been able to speak. Dr. Pigne-Dupuytren, father-in-law of F. W. Wood, the Superintendent of the Company, who came immediately upon hearing of the accident, was too late, and could only examine the deceased for the nature of his injuries. He found a fracture of the spinal column in the lumbar region, a compound fracture of the tibia, and a large collection of blood in the abdomen, caused by internal injuries. The deceased was a native of Ireland, only 27 years of age, and a steady workman. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by being accidentally run over by a railroad car. Coroner

ENLARGED SHEET

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1886.

A City of Homes.

Aside from her climatic conditions and her attractive surroundings, Los Angeles has much to make her desirable. She is pre-eminently a city of homes. Her permanent population, to a large extent, own their homes. This is a desirable feature in every community. The hired house is regarded merely as a temporary stopping place. Families come into and go from it. It has about it no permanent and lasting associations. People do not make the improvements in and around rented property that they would if the property was their own. The landlord is not apt to be willing to do more than to "keep up" the house and grounds. He wants a generous percentage on his investment, and thinks he doesn't pay to improve for other people, particularly if the improvements do not bring an increased rental. But in a city where places are largely owned by the people occupying them, improvements come as a matter of course. The expenditures are regarded as good investments. The return which they bring is found in the larger amount of comfort and satisfaction to be had in the home, and an honest pride in its adornment. This is noticeably the case in Los Angeles. The past two or three years has seen a large influx into our midst of home buyers, and home builders—people of means, of good taste, and modern ideas. In various parts of the city, where two years ago were orange orchards, or large blocks of land, are now elegant homes, with beautiful surroundings. The hills are being dotted with them, too, and all through the city homes are springing up, bearing upon their face the signs of ownership by those who occupy them.

Los Angeles has not as large a number, in proportion, as San Francisco, of families who live in hotels and boarding-houses. In that, she is better off than her sister city. A community that is housed in public places does not equal in moral force and purity the community that has its homes. The home life about one's own hearthstone has elements of strength that can be found under no other conditions. It has permanence; it has associations that are like an anchor in future years; it has a certain moral and social exclusiveness that cannot always be secured in the more mixed life of the public hostelry, and it has the incentive which leads us to make it beautiful and attractive, to adorn it not only for our own pleasure, but for that of others.

Of course, Los Angeles has a goodly number of houses for rent to her transient population, as it is necessary that she should have. These of a better class, too, than they were a few years since, and can be had at more reasonable prices. All of these things show a healthy advancement that is full of promise for the future.

Los Angeles, as a city of homes, will become more and more desirable every year. They will be an earnest of her moral and intellectual growth, and all of her industrial relations, her general development and commercial importance will not fall behind the increase of her homes. They will grow together, and the result will be altogether desirable.

Leprosy.

It is a very easy matter to make statements, but it is not always so easy to substantiate them. Wholesale assertions are not considered of much value in these days when they conflict with well-known facts. Our esteemed contemporary, the Herald, in a recent article on leprosy, stated that the disease never existed in cold countries. In disproof of this enunciation of the Herald we find the following in Du Chaillu's "Land of the Midnight Sun." In this the author makes the following statement: "The most terrible curse of Norway is leprosy (Elephantiasis Graecorum.) This is quite common on the west coast, from 59° to 69° latitude, but is rarely met with beyond these. Innumerable experiments and devices have been tried by the medical profession of the country, with a view of finding an effectual remedy for this scourge, but so far without avail. Little of this disease is found in Sweden; only seventy or eighty are afflicted with it, and these chiefly in the province of Helsingland. Five large hospitals have been erected for its treatment in Norway. Of these the three largest are located at Trondhiem, Molde, and Bergen. These contain on an average, from 2100 to 2200 patients." The existence and prevalence of leprosy in some of the Swedish colonies in our own northwestern States is also an established fact. Wisconsin and Minnesota and States adjoining, can hardly be considered semi-tropical regions. The tropics don't hang around localities, to any extent, where the mercury falls 50 or 40 degrees below zero as a frequent pastime in the winter months. Not much.

THE great value of the democratic campaign cry of "Turn the rascals out" and "Reform" is being emphasized most forcibly by the fact that before the Democrats have had the national administration a year it is scandalized by a job worse than that of Credit Mobilier. Two members of the Cabinet, two heads of departments, Senators and Congressmen have been the recipients of Pan-Electric telephone stock for their influence. The administration of Chester A. Arthur was without any such blemish, as was also that of Hayes. It is hard to see where the reform comes in.

THE terrible cold of this winter at the East is enough to make all Californians hog themselves with content that they are here under the warm sunshine of these February skies.

HELD TO ANSWER.

Major Bell's First Examination Concluded.

BOND FIXED AT A THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The Second Case Brought Up—Demurrer Filed and Examination Continued Until To day at 10 a. m.

There was a difference of eleven minutes between the watches of Justice Ramsey and Judge Fitzgerald, and that is the reason the latter put in his appearance a little late yesterday morning, when the case of People vs. Bell was called. Major Bell had chafed a little at the delay, and suggested that he was sorry that there was so much imbecility in the District Attorney's office that it could not be trusted to go ahead with a little libel case without assistance from the outside; and urged that if the associate counsel did not appear speedily Mr. Knox ought to proceed. The matter was settled, however, by Judge Fitzgerald and Mr. Dameron, the associate counsel, filing into court at eight minutes past eight.

Judge Morgan requested that the Court order the reporter to read Major Bell's evidence as taken Tuesday, and designate which parts were stricken out.

Judge Fitzgerald stoutly opposed the proposition, claiming that the improper evidence had been admitted, and, consequently, could not have been stricken out. The objections and rulings were all noted in the report and he thought that was sufficient. He rather testily suggested that if counsel did not understand his case, he had better look it up.

Judge Morgan was certain he understood it.

Major Bell: "There is a positive and a negative side to this question. The positive is that it is charged that Wells took this article in connection with beast Baldwin; the negative that it is not so charged. We are prepared to prove our side of the question, but I understand the Court will not allow me to do so."

Fitzgerald: "I protest against this manner of trying a case. It is getting sickening to me, at least. We have made no motion to strike out. There is nothing before the court. When we move to strike out, that will be time enough for defendant's objections."

Judge Morgan inquired if all that part of Major Bell's testimony relative to the conversation with General Bouton was excluded.

The Court: "Certainly; all hearsay evidence is ruled out."

The case was then submitted without argument on either side, and the court promptly ruled that the defendant be held to answer, with bail fixed at $1000.

Major Bell smarted a little under the amount of bail required, and desired that the District Attorney should have something to say about fixing it, but finally acquiesced.

The Second Case.

The second complaint against Major Bell was then brought up. In this defendant was charged with criminal libel in the publication of the following article:

"SHERMAN ON WELLS."

"When Senator John Sherman was in Los Angeles about a year ago Honorable G. Wiley Wells, honorable for having been a carpet-bag Congressman from Mississippi, ran after him and followed him around in a most servile manner, until Sherman got tired of it. He didn't know the delectable carpet-bagger, and treated a gentleman as a gentleman should treat a gentleman. When Wells found out who Sherman was, he was mad enough to bite a tenpenny nail in two. Sherman's treatment of Wells was the most withering rebuke that could be administered to a man of his stripe. Wells has been a carpet-bag Congressman from Mississippi and afterward a Consul to China, where he had made money enough to buy the largest library in America, and had set up as a lawyer without having read any one of the $20,000 worth of books he so purchased. This explanation recalled the delectable to the Senatorial mind and he scratched his Senatorial head and said: 'Why, yes, I now recognize and remember him. He is the fellow who used to buzz around us in Washington, and we called him G. Oily Wells.'"

Mr. Fitzgerald said he had not seen the complaint before,—was not aware of the charge in fact—and would like a little time to look the matter up. At his request the case was adjourned until 1 o'clock.

AFTERNOON.

At the appointed hour the case was resumed. Major Bell filed the following demurrer:

[Title of court and cause.]

Now comes the defendant and demurs to the complaint herein, and for cause of demurrer alleges:

First—That the facts stated in said complaint do not constitute a public offense.

Second—That it does not substantially conform to sections 950, 951 and 952 of the Penal Code.

Defendant specially demurrers to said complaint, because it does not charge by inference or inuendo, that the complaining witness was guilty of any grave or dishonest practice, or such as would subject him to obloquy and contempt.

The prosecution requested a further continuance. Mr. Knox said he would like to look over the complaint with his associate and also consider the demurrer. Perhaps Judge might conclude that the complaint was fully met by it.

After a little legal sapring a continuance was taken until 10 a. m. to-day.

That Denial.

Referring to the statement of General Bonton published yesterday, Under Sheriff Thornton says that Gen. Bouton was in the Sheriff's office and made the remark that he didn't believe Col. Wells and his wife had dined with Baldwin and Miss Perkins. Captain Thornton does not remember whether Major Bell was present or not.

Major Bell says that General Bouton visited his (Bell's) office, in the Temple block, last Friday, just before the forms of the Porcupine were being closed. He says Bouton then said to him, in talking about the Baldwin dinner: "Katie (meaning Mrs. Wells) says she was not invited." On this information, the Major says, he wrote the article upon which the first charge of criminal libel was founded.

Mr. Pritchard, a printer engaged on the Porcupine, says he saw General Bouton enter the office at the time specified, and Major Bell closed the door between the office and the composing room. He heard none of the conversation between the two, of course.

A Card from Col. Wells.

To the Editor of the Evening Express—

SIR: My attention has been called to the proceedings in the case of the People vs. Bell, published in this morning's issue of the DAILY TIMES, wherein the defendant is said to have testified that "Mrs. Wells interceded with him and induced him to go to Miss Perkins and get a description of that woman who dined with Baldwin and Wells in San Francisco."

I was not present in court when Bell testified, and I desire to state in this connection that if Bell made any statement of that kind, or if he ever made any statement to the effect that Mrs. Wells ever spoke to him upon that subject on any occasion whatever, or upon any subject connected in any way with the Baldwin cases, he stated that which was false, and he knew it to be false when he so stated. Very respectfully,

G. WILEY WELLS.

AN UNLUCKY FALL

Out of a Window of the San Gabriel Winery.

A German, employed in the cellars of the San Gabriel Wine Company at San Gabriel, fell from a window in the second story of the winery yesterday evening, just before dark. He fell a distance of nearly twenty-five feet upon a tub of water, which was covered with an inch redwood plank. The man's head struck the plank, and the concussion broke the wood in two, making a great welt on the falling man's forehead. In the rebound his back struck the upper side of the tub and fractured two of his ribs. He was immediately placed upon a cot and examined by Doctors Pigné-Dupuytren and McFarland, who were both present, and it was found that besides several bruises, two of his ribs were broken. With good care, the wounded man will get well in a short time.

Boyle Heights.

The Sabbath-school concert at the M. E. Church last Sunday evening was one of the best yet. There was a large attendance of adult members of the community, together with the host of little people. The songs and recitations by the children were most praiseworthy. And the choir —well, the Methodist choir of Boyle Heights has already acquired a reputation that would be difficult to improve upon, and to which it is justly entitled; but one of the most intelligent and best traveled gentlemen in the audience, and one who is himself considerable of a musician, said to the writer: "That choir excels anything I ever heard." For the excellence of the choir much credit is due to S. B. Sanborn, the talented and wide-awake chorister, who is also Superintendent of the Sabbath-school. The closing exercise under the management of Mrs. E. Brayton was very edifying and impressive. On the whole, we feel that the occasion was one of profit and a credit to the church and community, and if we are to judge from present appearances, we venture the prediction that at no very distant day in the future the Boyle Heights M. E. Church will stand second to none in the city. AN OBSERVER.

PERKINS-BALDWIN.

Some Highly Interesting Proceedings Yesterday.

MANY BAD WITNESSES EXCORIATED.

Much Defamatory Evidence, Much Contradiction and Much Scrub Testimony.

On the stroke of nine yesterday morning court was called to order. Plaintiff was present with her sister, Mrs. Clark. Col. Howard got in five minutes late and Col. Wells arrived at 9:15. Eugene Rocoe was put on the stand. The Colton Hotel was again on trial.

A STAGE-DRIVER.

Roscoe said: "Am 36 years old. Live in Banning. Owned and drove a hack between San Bernardino and Colton, in July and August, four times a day. Made my headquarters at the Colton House. There was a bar in the house. Was on friendly terms with Mrs. Laird. Think I saw plaintiff there about June 1st, '83. She seemed to be a friend of Mrs. Laird. Reputation of the house was as a house of easy virtue under the disguise of a hotel. Mrs. Shorb, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Laird, plaintiff and a negro woman were there then. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were there about two weeks. I took them away. They went to the European Hotel, San Bernardino, [which has been extensively sworn to by Baldwin's witnesses as also of bad repute.] They left the Colton House because they didn't like its reputation. Mrs. Shorb and Mrs. Tyler were prostitutes; Mrs. Laird was considered a kept woman; plaintiff was considered loose. Her conduct and dress were loose. Have seen her waiting at the bar, wearing glasses, etc. I have often drank with her at the bar and in the parlor. She drank sometimes wine and beer. Drank in parlor with her, Frank Stoddard, Martin and other young men. They put their arms around her and sconfled with her. Saw her and Stoddard driving back from San Bernardino to Colton between 11 and 12 at night. In the parlor she would play the piano and dr nk with the boys. Don't think I ever saw her play cards. Saw Martin sitting on sofa beside her in parlor, with his arms around her and scuffling with her, when I called him to the train. Saw her once driving toward Colton with Martin about 10 at night, Martin kept the horses on a trot. The colored woman at the Colton Hotel had a bad name. Don't know where she went after leaving the hotel."

HE RATHER LOSES THE REINS.

Mr. White cross-examined the witness, who replied in effect as follows:

"I came from Banning, 90 miles from Los Angeles, to testify at this trial. I never told Col. Howard that I was going to know about this case. Constable Brown subpœnaed me. I have no contract as to what I am to receive for my evidence. Have been introduced to Mrs. Laird. Never talked with him about this. Yes, I am a man of family. Have a girl 16 years old. Don't remember that I ever talked with her about this. Yes, I am a man of family. Have a girl 16 years old. There were ladies at the Colton House besides Mrs. Laird. Mr. White then cross-examined Earp: "I was born in Kentucky. Have been in Arizona. Am one of the Earp brothers, so called. Lived in San Bernardino county off and on since '68. Lived in Los Angeles November, 1883, already dead. My business? I am doing nothing at present."

Mr. White: "Weren't you one of the gamblers captured by the police in a raid on Cann and King's in this city some months ago?"

Earp: "Yes, I was."

Col. Wells objected and was sustained.

Earp continued: "Went up to San Bernardino the day before yesterday. Think Constable Brown was with me. I didn't go to look up witnesses for Baldwin, but on business of my own. Brown asked me to get the Colton Hotel register for '83 for use in this trial, and I got it at the hotel from the clerk. Haven't taken any interest in this case. Don't think I've talked with Collyer about it. Wasn't subpœnaed in November."

Mr. White: "Will you swear that Mrs. Tyler was at the hotel at the same time plaintiff was?"

Earp, after considerable wriggling: "No, I can't swear she was. Don't know but what she had left the hotel before plaintiff arrived. Yes, I believe Mrs. Laird visited me in my room. [Sensation.] I got it and brought it here. Don't know as I made any memoranda in it, sir."

Here Mr. Williams and Mr. White, who had been examining the register, consented to its introduction. It contained something which pleased them.

A SECOND ORGOORY.

J. H. Cawelti, a guilty-looking farmhand from Verdugo, Jaspary fall mustache, staggered, with counsel's help, through his evidence.

"Have been married since '82. Knew plaintiff in Ventura county. Never had an introduction to her, but had known her since '72. Was living on my brother's father. The Perkinses left Ventura county in '79. Louise was then a girl that was about 15 or about 100 pounds, and very near as tall as she is now. Don't remember what I knew about this case till yesterday, and then he asked me what I knew about the case. I said 'nothing.'"

THE COLTON REGISTER.

Col. Wells wanted to introduce in evidence the register of the Colton Hotel, which was found and said: "Did live in June, July and August, '83. Saw plaintiff several times, one time at the water-sprinkling. [Witness detailed the incident substantially as his father had, and giving without sentimental reserve the filthy language alleged to have been used by Mrs. Laird.] Mrs. Laird was 'jolly,' plaintiff laughing and enjoying it. I know Colton pretty well. The Colton House had a bad reputation. In June and July Mrs. Shorb, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Laird and Miss Perkins were there. Mrs. Shorb lived in a house of prostitution not over 100 feet from the hotel before she went to the hotel. Mrs. Laird's reputation was bad; I had a brother that used to sleep with her. He told me so." [Mr. White moved to strike out as hearsay. Granted.]
